2. From the information that I gathered, [redacted] is preparing FY-60 and FY-61 budgets with a separate breakdown for tests and development of items that have previously been considered air support functions. These include low-level overflight airplanes, light airplanes with cargo and personnel deliveries, and the allied installed equipment.

3. As a result of the above, I was asked to give my brief estimates on budget requirements and forward through you to the comptroller.

4. The following figures are submitted. Of necessity some assumptions were made in arriving at these figures. I am unable to determine the validity of these assumptions so will list them for your consideration.

a. It is assumed that the low-level collection and paramilitary programs will continue and that the requirements are valid and still exist.

b. It is assumed that the Agency will continue to participate in air drops and other paramilitary activities on the same level of effort as in the past.

c. It is assumed that requirements exist and will continue to exist for a light airplane for infiltration.

d. It is assumed that as a result of "a" above a replacement airplane will be required in 1963 for the RE-69's, presently in service, and that in order to have these on the line by 1963 development action must be started at this time.
